

Application/ Problem

Vortex tubes can also be used to cool electrical components; multiple tubes can work in a production line to speed up drying process.

Example/Solution

Vortex Tubes are used to cool down and dry automotive door seal extrusion before it's coated with a colour to match the interior of the car. The coating process cannot be done until the original extrusion is cool and dry. A Vortex tube speeds up the production time.